

An exciting opportunity has arisen here at RP International. We are seeking ambitious and sharp-minded Graduates to start their career with us as a Sales Support/ Associate Consultant in our UK team. We offer a competitive starting salary, plus commission from day one. Some recruitment sales experiences would be beneficial, however, not required as comprehensive training will be given. Opportunities for progression will be available, as our business strategy is focused on organic growth for the future.

What to expect?

- Working as part of a sales team with experienced recruitment consultants supporting their clients' new talent projects
- Screening and shortlisting candidates including in person interviews to assess suitability for positions and advise them of opportunities available
- Developing relationships with talented professionals of all levels via phone, email and in person
- Liaising with clients to organise interviews and candidate bookings and completing all necessary administration
- Contacting clients and candidates during temporary assignments to offer an aftercare service and advice on any queries

About Us

RP international is a global recruitment consultancy with a focus on emerging technology. Our vision is to partner with the leaders who drive transformation around the World. We dominate not just telecommunication transformation, but also other areas of technology, including Architecture, Aviation, Automobiles, FinTech, Cyber Security, in international markets. RPI boasts office spanning across Europe, the Middle East and APAC, with plans to grow into the US. We value global mobility and want to help you make the move to boost your career.

What can we offer?

- Competitive salary plus commission
- Career progression and career path opportunities
- Comprehensive induction training – delivered by senior consultants up to leadership team
- Pension plan
- Mediacash plan
- Employee Assistance programme
- Pro-rate 20 days holiday rising to 25 (plus 8 bank holiday days)
- An additional day off for your Birthday
- Monthly, quarterly & annual sales incentives (i.e. cash incentives, team building activities and overseas trips)
- Exposure and possibility to work at various offices around the globe
- Flexible working policy in operation when relevant (WFH – hybrid set up)
- Professional but lively and friendly company culture
- Working patterns; Mon-Fri

Why Recruitment?

A career in recruitment is ideal for ambitious and sharp minded individuals who are looking to work in a vibrant and social environment with opportunities for progression. It's an exciting, varied and fast-paced role, which means you will need to be adaptable and solve problems, but you will get support and encouragement from every member of the team from your first day and beyond.

If this sounds like something that matches your skill set and you would like to consider and want to find out more, please contact Lidia Szymczak, Group Head of People via email: las@rpint.com or call 02035977196.

Due to high volume of applications only successful candidates will be contacted.

www.rpint.com